Summer School goes ahead, digital track developed

Due to the covid-19 outbreak and the uncertainty of being able to physically attend to summer school, we are happy to inform you that a full-fledged digital track is developed for those who cannot be present, offering the same inspiring content, innovative approach and collaborative environment as the physical version does.

At this moment the physical version of the summer school is still scheduled to go ahead as planned. We will monitor the situation closely, hereby following the measures and guidelines provided by the Belgian government and university experts.

In for an (online) adventure along with likeminded people from all over the world? Read along and submit your application before 22 May 2020.

What

During this hands-on summer school, students will be introduced in the framework of a business idea by focusing on different aspects of entrepreneurship. The topics range from ideation over intellectual property to market research and business modelling. Moreover, students will engage in a real-life based group work which will let them apply the knowledge and skills they gained effectively. Presentations will be given by practitioners as well as academics, with ensuing discussions by all participants.

When

17 – 28 August 2020

Who

Master students or bachelor students in their last year who are interested in discovering entrepreneurship. As the summer school is interdisciplinary by nature, students from all disciplines are encouraged to apply.

Registration fee

€750

For the physical version, the fee includes all lectures, tutoring and workshops, course material, coffee breaks, excursions and social activities. Does not include lunch, accommodation or travel costs.

For the digital version, the fee includes all lectures, tutoring and workshops, course material, digital coaching and (online) social activities. Technical set-up (stable internet connection, headset, computer and webcam) has to be provided by the participant.

University of Antwerp students are entitled to a refund of €150.
