HofmanDujardin

HofmanDujardin was founded in 1999. Since then, we have completed a wide range of architectural, interior and product design projects. Our clients include property developers, housing corporations, multinational corporations, law firms and private families, for whom we create dynamic and ground-breaking spaces, helping people to work well and feel good.

Studio

The office is located in the ancient harbor district of Amsterdam. With an experienced, enthusiastic and powerful team of architects and interior designers we put all our energy and effort in creating inspiring buildings and interiors. We merge the goals and dreams of our clients with our ideas of quality and create marvelous places to be.

Since 16 years we work on a large variety of projects. We gained experience in the realization of architectural projects, renovations, interior design projects and product designs. Below you find a more specific explanation of the design approach and process of each of our services. We are ambitious and motivated, if your required service is not listed below please don't hesitate to contact us. We want to learn and broaden our horizon.

The HofmanDujardin team is a multi-disciplinary international group of approximately 20 architects, interior architects, draftsmen and interns with different background and university education. The office has a horizontal approachable organization. The following people are part of the team: Michiel Hofman, Barbara Dujardin, Anne Boonstra, Arjen Aarnoudse, Bo Winnubst, Stephan Verkuijlen, Pieter Mulder, Maik Peters, Xander Albers, Thom Zijlstra, Jaime Perez, Fabian van den Bosch, Jibril Omari, Laurens Schuitmaker, David Hernandez, Giovanni Vergantini, Gianluigi Formentin and Andoni Urreizti.

Our way of working is based on four key values Clarity, Quality, Integrity and Creativity. We base everything on simple, clear designs. We deliver the highest-quality design solutions for our clients. We practice honest, transparent and straightforward ways of working. And we have the unlimited ambition to be inspirational, original and enthusiastic in everything we do.

Our values apply to literally everything – from high-level meetings with clients to how the team members interact in our Amsterdam office. It is our way of life – a set of standards with which we think, communicate, design and create. By basing everything we do on these values we ensure we create spaces of the highest possible quality that protect, relax, connect and excite people. We start all projects with a very clear, simple sketch, so from the first step our clients can be confident that we fully understand them and they fully understand us.

In the studio we speak fluently English, Dutch, French, German, and Spanish. We can deliver our services in any of these languages. To give you a personal impression of our ideas, our vision and our work ethics we publish an interview from an international design magazine.

We started our architecture studies in 1990. Barbara studied in Versailles, Paris and Milan. Michiel studied in Delft and Milan. Our chief motivation is architecture's beautiful mix of science and sociology. Architecture as an industry has been not very successful over the last decade. Unfortunately architects have not taken the responsibility. Architects seem now to rely on an top down aesthetic approach towards built environments. We think architecture is not about buildings but about people. Architects seem to forget this, and clients and users are surprised by it. Architects need to reclaim a more authentic position and design for the intuitive well being of people. While realizing this, they still need to make their work beautiful.

Since the foundation of the office our projects and ideas have been granted several international design awards.
