

A stylized map of the Iberian Peninsula is shown in the background. Overlaid on the map is a network of colored lines and nodes. The lines are primarily red and blue, with some yellow and purple segments. The nodes are small circles, some of which are colored (red, blue, yellow, purple) and others are white with a blue outline. The network appears to represent a transportation or communication system across the region.

XIV aieec

Bilbao, 11-13 September 2023