Exploring new fields through the scholarship of teaching and learning

III EUROPEAN SCHOLARSHIP OF TEACHING AND LEARNING CONFERENCE

- How can we ensure that the learning of our students is deep and meaningful?
- In which direction must our professional development go?
- How can we integrate social responsibility and sustainability in teaching?
- Can you and your teaching experience contribute to improving teaching?

The EuroSoTL 2019 conference is a meeting point to share experiences to help to improve the learning-teaching processes and advance in professional development.

The main themes for the forthcoming conference are:

1. Developing inquiry and research in undergraduate and post-graduate students.
2. Experiences that stimulate student engagement.
3. Emerging and unpublished experiences that foster insignificant and in-depth learning.
4. The professional approach to teaching and learning as the objective of the professional development of academic staff.
5. SoTL and the Sustainable Development Goals (2030 Agenda)

The abstracts (350 words) must be submitted before 20 January 2019 through the Conference website where you will find all the necessary information.

We look forward to hearing from you!
